A face shield, facemask or virus protection system may comprise a transparent shield attached to head pad or foam piece with a fastening system attached to the shield. The fastener system may comprise any type of retention system and may include a Velcro or hook and loop system or an elastic strap system such as a strap with a male buckle and strap with a female buckle. Disclosed embodiments may protect a user from airborne contaminants such as COVID 19 and other viruses. The face shield system is economical to manufacture and assemble.
